During Tyson's 24 year tenure as Partner and Associate Designated Broker of Commercial Properties Inc., he has repeatedly been recognized as a top producing broker in the Valley. He is the driving force behind a highly successful division of Commercial Properties Incorporated.

Tyson's team consisting of Shane McCormick, Theresa Warber, Ryan Lambeth and Gina Beccaria have helped Tyson stay focused on achieving success and staying motivated. Noting the importance of teamwork, Tyson remarked, "I believe that if you want to be successful, you need to surround yourself with highly motivated and performing team members. I have been so fortunate to be surrounded by some of the best team members, which has accelerated my growth and potential."

He graduated from Arizona State University and began his commercial real estate career in marketing; a career choice that led him to then become a sales agent, broker and eventually an Associate Designated Broker of Commercial Properties Incorporated. His leadership has proven to be invaluable to CPI, while his dedication, hard work and commitment to excellence continues to strengthen the company and most importantly, his clients.

Spending just five minutes with Tyson, you can feel the enthusiasm he has for what he does. When it comes to commercial real estate, his drive propels him forward as he works every day to provide the best opportunities for his clients. Tyson's vigor and zeal energize those around him, motivating them to move forward, knowing they can place their trust in him.

"My ethical responsibility to our clients is what drives me to work long hours, and I just love what I do." Tyson offers this advice with a smile, "Find your passion and allow it to energize you. Believe in yourself and your work - and you will be successful."

Tyson is a 5th generation Arizona native. He lives in Gilbert with his wife and their 4 children.
